TIPS FOR USING militarychildcare.com

Tips for Using militarychildcare.com

- When creating your family profile, list EVERY e-mail for the child(ren)'s parents/guardians
 - ALL initial contact is via e-mail; if you do not respond to an e-mail notification, the system will automatically remove your child(ren) from the waiting list
- Ensure both parents/guardians know how to access the family account in militarychildcare.com
 - Also, when creating your family profile, ensure both parents/guardians' employment/education status is accurate, as the system assigns families a priority level based on the information provided
 - There is a difference between Active Duty, Reservist in non-active duty status, Civil Service employee, and Contractor
 - There is also a difference between working, looking for work, and non-working
 - Family's may (should) update their status as needed to ensure the information in militarychildcare.com is accurate
