Bring your camera gear, a coat, your newly found photo enthusiasm, and a smile for a great day in the Alaskan outdoors. All experience levels are welcomed.

Trying to get outside this winter? Want to learn more or hone your photography skills? Then this trip is for you! Join the Outdoor Adventure Program for a guided hike down the pristine sea ice of Kincaid Beach with your own camera and equipment, as well as plenty of questions. Come see the beautiful ice formations, elegant windswept sand dunes, and the remarkable mountain vistas across the inlet. Don't forget a coat and a smile!

The hike will be geared towards beginners, but is for anyone who is interested. The first part of the workshop will feature general guidelines on utilizing your equipment and how to have a great time at this experience. Printouts will be available, too, with more details for those who are interested.

The second part of the workshop will focus more on the personal aspect of photography, with open-ended conversations, Q-&-A sessions, and real-world application of photography in a marvelous natural environment.
