SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE

Cardinal Creek Golf Course

A MESSAGE FROM OUR MANAGER

Our entire team welcomes you to the 2024 golf season! Last year more people played on our course than ever before. We hosted over 800-unit, group, golf events, and meetings. Of all the Air Force Golf Courses, YOUR Cardinal Creek ranked #1 in AMC, #4 Conus Golf and #15 Worldwide!

We support our local communities by hosting four academic golf programs including McKendree University, SWIC, Belleville East High School and Mascoutah High School golf teams. It is because of our family of members and patrons that we can support mission readiness by providing a quality experience to the Scott AFB and local communities. We strive to improve the quality of life for our members, our customers, our staff, and contribute to the resiliency of our military members.

There were some remarkable accomplishments for Cardinal Creek last season. We were able to execute $654.4K in improvements to the golf course, clubhouse, and facilities including improving our meeting space with "Boardroom" renovations, cart path repairs, and retention walls. We also replaced equipment increasing our effectiveness that improves the quality of golf course conditions. Thanks to you, Cardinal Creek has earned the reputation of having one of the best golf programs in the area and in the Air Force.

In 2024, we plan to begin work and improve the drainage on the back nine holes. We will continue to replace aging maintenance equipment, repair, and improve the facilities of Cardinal Creek. We already have replaced our aging tee markers and made preseason needed repairs to our golf cart fleet, and will be replacing half our fleet mid-season. We are adding additional Golf Instructors and expanding our group and junior golf programs, offering the most comprehensive golf lesson program in the area.

As part of our instructional offerings, we have been able to secure funding to host three PGA HOPE golf programs in 2024. The PGA HOPE (Helping Our Patriots Everywhere) is the flagship military program of PGA REACH, the charitable foundation of the PGA of America. PGA HOPE introduces golf to Veterans and Active-Duty Military to enhance their physical, mental, social and emotional well-being.

Lastly, mark your calendars, as we are bringing an unprecedented 32 special events and golf tournaments for 2024! Including a new Play from the Red Tees Scramble and three evenings of Live Music with "Concerts at the Creek."

Comedic Legend Bob Hope once said, "If you watch a game, it is fun. If you play a game, it is recreation. If you work at it, it is called golf." We are pleased to work at it for you. Welcome back to "your" Cardinal Creek Course at Scott Air Force Base!

THIS IS THE

BIGGEST CAUSE OF YOUR SLICE

(AND HOW TO START TO FIX IT)

Written By: Luke Kerr-Dineen
- GOLF MAGAZINE TOP 100 TEACHERS
APRIL 2021

There are two "S" words that golfers dread more than any other: The first is the dreaded "shank". The second is the slightly less-dreaded, but far more common "slice".

Our partners at GOLFTEC have spent countless hours diving deep into the causes - and effects - of the most widespread problem in golf. They found that about 60 percent of all golfers hit a slice, with an average score of 101, and higher-handicaps tend to miss to the right of their target more than half the time.

Sound like you? Turns out, there's one cause above all else that's probably causing you to slice so many shots. Your clubface is probably open at impact.

What may seem obvious to some isn't to others: The clubface is king in golf. The direction the clubface is pointing at impact will influence the ball's direction more than anything else in your swing. When it comes to handicap, GOLFTEC found that lower handicaps tend to keep their clubface a lot more square on their downswing - within about a degree of their swing direction - than anybody else. Higher handicaps have their clubface between three and five degrees more open (which means pointing to the right of the target) on the downswing.

When the clubface is open, it means it is pointing to the right of the target, which means that is almost certainly where the ball is going to go. So, why is your face open? There are a few different factors, but one of the most common is your grip. A "weak" grip causes an open clubface, so if you are slicing the ball and trying to figure out why, that is where you should look first.

As GOLF Top 100 Teacher Jason Carbone explains, "a good anti-slice grip requires gripping the club in your fingers, NOT the palm of your hands."

And once you do that, PGA Tour player Tony Finau - who once struggled with a slice himself - explains here that turning your hands more to the right (for right-handed golfers) will help strengthen your grip, and therefore prevent the clubface from opening too much.

Finau made this grip change himself. Here is a picture of his before (slice) grip, and his after (power fade) grip.

Or of course you can always just book a lesson.

WOMAN'S PLAN. GOD LAUGHED. HUMBLE PIE.

Written By: Shelley Loring
- CCGC PRO SHOP TEAM MEMBER

I have a great life. I've been married to my best friend, Joe, for over 40 years. Together we have four kids and eight grandchildren, a goldendoodle, and two very spoiled cats. If you told me when I retired five years ago after working 25 years in corporate human resources that I would be going back to school and working at a golf course, I would have bet against you. I had planned retirement as time to relax, enjoy the grandkids, vacation at fun places, cook elaborate meals, play golf, and simply do what I want when I want. Fast forward five years, I'm working at Cardinal Creek and as of this writing, attending classes in Fontbonne University's Fine Arts program. Both are unplanned adventures, and both have been a blast. The saying, "man (woman in my case) plans, God laughs (loudly)" are so true when I think about my retirement.

Shortly after retiring, I took a drawing class at Southwestern Illinois College (SWIC). I had been creating stained glass pieces for several years but wanted to create my own designs and I thought a drawing class would help me. That drawing class changed my plans. (Is that laughter I hear?) I discovered that once I learned the basic tools and methods, I enjoyed drawing. Not only did I enjoy drawing, but I also had some talent. I continued at SWIC for a few semesters, learning the basics of painting and honing my drawing skills, never planning to go any further. (Again, more laughing?)

SWIC holds an annual portfolio day where students display their pieces and art school representatives visit to critique and hopefully recruit students to their program. The first post-COVID portfolio day did not have many students registered and even though I was not planning to attend art school, I was asked to put up my work to help fill the space. I admit, it was very satisfying to see my pieces hung together in the gallery and I thought I might get some useful suggestions from the art school representatives. Little did I know that this event would change my plans (there's that laughter again). The representative from Fontbonne University spent time discussing each piece and helping me see how they could be better. At the end of our discussion, he encouraged me to visit the school's open house the following week and the rest, they say, is history.

I am finishing up my third semester at Fontbonne. I have no idea how long I'll continue taking classes but today I love it and have learned not to make plans. Being in a class with people who are the same age as my kids or grandkids has been interesting and different from when I went to school before. Working in a group environment such as a studio provides the opportunity to learn from and help each other solve the problems we face with the pieces we are working on. Ideas get tossed around and we challenge each other. There is a lot of quiet in the studio and a lot of laughter. If I were to stop classes, I would miss the studio time with other students the most because I have learned so much from them. I've learned:

You are never too old to learn something new

I started exploring art during a night class after I retired. I anticipated being the oddball because I was so much older than everyone else but what I quickly realized was that if I gave it my best effort, that's all that mattered. I quickly became an accepted member of the class because of my effort and skill. Likewise, I didn't start playing golf until about 11 years ago. When I started, I was embarrassed of my poor golf skills and worried I'd slow everyone down. Now I participate in two golf leagues and work at a golf course. Do I play well - (someone is laughing again) heck no but I have a great time playing and enjoy the people immensely. Every time I play, my score gets a little better as does my ability to eat humble pie.

Everyone can be creative

No child ever picked up a crayon and said "I can't draw". Everyone has imagination and a measure of creativity. When we compare ourselves to those who we consider great, we never measure up so many times we just stop trying. Creativity comes in many forms and as many levels of expertise. You don't have to be good to be creative, you just have to be willing to try. The point is to just get out there and create something!

Failure is only a negative if you don't learn from it

I can tell you that many bad, ugly paintings and drawings that I would never want anyone to see ended up in the trash. However, everyone taught me something. Sometimes it is nothing more than what an ugly painting looks like. Failure is a successful step in the journey. Trying to learn anything will result in failures. What you do with that knowledge is what's important.

God's plans are better than mine - every time

(My turn to laugh, Ha!) I've stopped planning my next step. If continuing school is in his plan, then I'll continue. If it isn't that's okay too because I am sure he has something better in mind.

MY THIRD CAREER

AN OPPORTUNITY TO LISTEN, ENCOURAGE AND PROVIDE SUPPORT TO THE NEXT GENERATION OF WOMEN GOLFERS.

The summer after I retired from McKendree University I was playing in the Wednesday evening league with my new league partner the University's head golf coach, Mikal Guffey. He asked if I would be interested in helping him coach the women's golf team. After a 25-year career in human resources coaching sounded like the perfect retirement gig except that I had never coached and the women on the team were great players and would beat me every time, ha-ha!! Mikal explained that my duties would include driving the bus, passing out snacks, and most importantly encouraging the team. I could do that so I accepted the offer.

I am not a swing or putting coach but I knew that just listening would allow them to figure out where the line is or what club to hit and to execute with confidence. Terry Neutzling, head men's golf coach at Belleville East, started coaching because he loves the sport and he enjoys the kids. The teacher in him enjoys seeing the learning that goes on outside of the classroom. He says it is rewarding to see players start to manage a course based on his instruction, playing smarter and scoring better.

The now retired head girl's golf coach at Belleville East Rich Maue, chose to coach because he loves golf and found it rewarding when players improved year after year. Many had never picked up a club when they started, but by senior year they would score in the 80's. Rewarding! It is the feeling of making a difference in these young lives that is so satisfying!!

Handling nervous players is an important part of being a coach. One of my favorite memories involves a player that was very nervous as she waited on the first tee. It was a difficult hole with water between the tee and the green. We talked about the shot she was about to hit then our conversation turned to one of her hobbies, yoga. It took her mind off the shot and I saw her relax. Prior to the hole near the tee, you guessed it she took a brief yoga pose. First shot right up the middle!

Earlier this fall, I took the whole team to Kentucky, my first time taking a team to a tournament by myself, I was excited! They had been playing well and had won 2 of their last 3 tournaments. Go Bearcats!!!! The day before we left, Ford recalled our 15-passenger van. Driving a rented minivan with seven women, clubs, luggage, snacks, a case of water, pillows, we filled up the van and off we went. They finished in 4th place against a tough lineup of teams. Flexibility is an important trait for coaching.

Participating on a team in high school and college gets students involved in school, builds pride, provides motivation and allows the opportunity for life-long friendships. There is a lot of learning outside of a classroom for players. The energy from college players keeps you thinking and is energized! What an experience and very rewarding.

If you see players from McKendree University or from any of our local school teams on our course, I encourage you to engage them in conversation. I truly believe that "It takes a village to raise a child." Join me and the Cardinal Creek family in raising our young players, you too may feel how a little listening will help them "Execute with Confidence" and will "make a difference in them." Now that is Rewarding!

TOP FOUR REASONS TO PLAY IN A LEAGUE

Whenever I think about all the years I have spent playing golf, I can't believe how differently I looked at the game after I joined a weekly league. It fundamentally changed the way I played, how I thought about my game, and how much enjoyment I get out of it. A golf league may not be for everyone, but here are 4 great reasons why you should consider joining. - James McCormick

1 PLAY BETTER

If you have confidence in your game, and even if you don't, the one thing that you can be sure of is the simple act of playing more will improve your game. This especially goes for the one round a month or less type of golfer. More than that, when you play in competition your focus improves, and you now have goals when you are on the course. You think more strategically about your game and your decision making. Over time you do more of the little things well. In short, you will get better by playing more often in competition.

2 BUILD FRIENDSHIPS

Camaraderie is one of the biggest reasons I play league golf. The time honored tradition of discussing your round with the golfers you played with and the good natured banter about both successes and failures gets better with more friends and league mates in attendance. Let's face it, the shared experience of a golf game can bring together people who otherwise would not have anything in common. The camaraderie of a good golf league may be the best reason to play in one.

3 PLAY MORE

I remember my first season of league golf. I committed to getting out 10 times that season, and by the time I had finished the first few months of play I had already been out 8 times. That was 3 more times than I had played the entire year before. Why? In league play there is just more reasons to play every week. First, the competition in league play brings an added level of motivation to get out and play. Recognition from other golfers when you finish atop the leader-board is great, but what really got me out more often was all the new opportunities to play with a much larger group of people. Any time I wanted to play a round of golf, I could, thanks to my golf league.

4 HAVE MORE FUN

I love the old saying that "a bad day of golf beats a good day at the office." This is never more true than in league play. We are taught as children that competition offers the opportunity to learn and improve at whatever sport we are playing. So even if I'm losing, sometimes badly, I get much more out of the round than with just a casual game. Besides, I relish the likely abuse I'll get afterwards and if you play league golf, you will too.

FAVORITE FAMILY RECIPES

Written By: James McCormick
- CCGC MANAGER

Chicken Cordon Bleu

Classic chicken cordon bleu is breaded and then fried. We like to skip the frying and bake it. It takes what is otherwise a tedious recipe and simplifies it a bit. Or at least lets you skip the giant pot of oil and the inevitable cleanup. Once the chicken is layered with cheese and ham, then rolled. It's one big piece of chicken, so frying it seemed like too much. The chicken will bake into a beautiful, golden, and crispy piece of meat that is perfectly swirled on the inside.

Chicken cordon bleu sauce really completes this dish. It is creamy and tangy, and like a next-level gravy. You start by making a basic gravy, and then add dijon mustard and cheese to take it into a class all on its own.

Ingredients

- 4 chicken breasts
- 8 slices Swiss Cheese - try hot pepper cheese for spicy alternative
- 8 ounces Prosciutto Ham - may substitute with any quality ham
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 large eggs- beaten
- 2 cups Italian Style Breadcrumbs - Panko crumbs work well also
- 4 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 teaspoon dried oregano
- Kosher salt
- fresh ground black pepper

Sauce

- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1/3 cup freshly grated Parmesan - again try hot pepper cheese

Yield: 4 servings | Prep Time: 10 mins | Total Time: 1 hr 10 mins
Calories per serving: 1238

1. See step 8 and pour a glass of wine to enjoy while cooking.
2. Preheat oven to 400° and line a large baking sheet with parchment paper OR try Air Frying for 12 minutes seam side-down at 400°.

Why make Chicken Cordon Bleu in the air fryer? For starters, it comes out super crispy and golden brown. It is also much faster than baking it in the oven. It only takes about 12 minutes to cook and doesn't require any time waiting for the oven to preheat, although we recommend you let the air fryer preheat while you prep the chicken. Cooking the chicken seam-side down might seem counterintuitive, but trust me. It will hold its shape better, so you won't lose that gooey, cheesy filling. Just be sure to secure everything the best you can with a toothpick or two - but don't forget to remove them before serving!
3. Place chicken breast between two pieces of plastic wrap on a cutting board and flatten to a 1/4 inch thickness with a meat mallet or rolling pin. Top chicken with 2 slices of cheese, then 2 ounces of ham. Starting at the top of the breast, roll up tightly and secure with toothpicks. Repeat with remaining.

Classic Cocktail - Negroni

As the story goes, the Negroni was invented in a bar in Florence, Italy in the early 20th century by the Italian Count Camillo Negroni. He asked the bartender to strengthen his cocktail, an Americano, so the bartender replaced the soda water with gin and added an orange peel instead of the Americano's typical lemon peel. Now the experimental drink of gin, vermouth, and Campari has become a popular cocktail even outside of Italy.

This Negroni cocktail will knock your socks off. Be sure to use good quality gin!

Ingredients

- 3/4 ounces Campari
- 3/4 ounces gin
- 3/4 ounces sweet vermouth
- 2 ounces carbonated water
- 1 lemon wedge for garnish

DIRECTIONS

In a rocks glass over ice, combine Campari, gin, and sweet vermouth. Add carbonated water and garnish with lemon wedge.

WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS

2023 Scott Air Force Base Golf Team
 Front Row: Garret Overman & Aidan Fricleton.
 Second Row: Gus Ortiz, Tammy Basson, Kyle Rogier & Margaret Shacklady.

The 2023 Scott AFB Golf Team held home course advantage on day one of the match and never looked back. Starting on Saturday the team took a three-point lead into day two, finishing Saturday with 4.5 points to Fort Leonard Woods 1.5 points.

Sunday was all Team Scott as they ran away with it winning 10.5 of the 12 points. After a two year hiatus, they brought the cup back to Scott with a 15 to 3 victory!

THE TRADITION CONTINUES: SCOTT AFB VS FORT LEONARD WOOD

In 2017, Cardinal Creek Golf Course at Scott Air Force Base sent a challenge to Piney Woods Golf Course at U.S. Army Fort Leonard Wood. The two clubs have met yearly since then. Playing each other for two days, in a Ryder Cup style match.

The Cardinal Creek team consists of current CCGC Club Champions and three Captain picks. According to our PGA Professional, General Manager and Team Captain, James McCormick, "Golf is usually an individual event. I have heard from non-golfers that golf is boring, and lacks personality. To a non-golfer that may be true, but with team matches like the Ryder Cup or our Scott Leonard Wood Matches, you are playing for your Base, your branch of service for your club." "Players live and die with every shot; you see emotions on the sleeves and see players feed off the energy of there playing partners and teammates. Best of all, when a player finishes his or her match they immediately head out to cheer on their teammates battling it out in other matches. These matches have been known to bring winners – and losers to tears." —

In 2023, we had 91 AGF Members, Guests and Daily Fee Players Compete in our Annual Scott AFB, Base Golf Championship.

The outstanding golf course conditions provided by our grounds team lead by Chuck Fogle allowed for great scoring ability and solid play.

course but that's all we practice on the range. I stand up there and watch all you range rats beating golf balls for hours and I always wonder, are they getting better at golf? They are getting better at hitting balls but what about playing the game? You should ask yourselves that as well.

New this season I'm going to be doing 9 hole playing assessments where I take 4 players out on the golf course and track your statistics in a way that will give us a very precise picture as to what is causing your high scores. That same person that came to me wanting to fix their slice might miss 4 putts inside of three feet while we play and at the same time hit every fairway down the right side. In golf it's always best to address the low hanging fruit first, in this case it would be putts inside of 5 feet. A very easy aspect of the game to fix.

We come up with a routine, maybe use the line on the ball to line up the putt, and possibly work on a stroke mechanic. 30 minutes of work and you've saved 4 shots over 9 holes.

The playing assessment is my way of being the Doctor for your golf game. If you truly want to get the most of your talent, time, and effort, you need to know exactly what to fix and develop a plan that will get you to your goals. I can help you get there.

Last season I introduced on course group playing lessons. For those of you that signed up you got to experience the most efficient and effective way to learn the game of golf. Each one of my clients that signed up for the group on course lessons ended up shooting the lowest round of their lives at some point last season. One of my players even lowered their handicap by 18 strokes. I was skeptical at the start of last season but throughout the summer it was evident that this is a far superior method of learning rather than banging golf balls on the driving range. The range has its purpose and is certainly useful, but if you want to get better at playing the game, the golf course is the best option.

➤ PRESCRIBE THE PERFECT REMEDY

Healing Your Golf Game with Precision!

When most people go to the doctors office they begin by telling the doc what their symptoms have been and what has been going wrong. The doctor then uses their expertise, knowledge, and experience to make a diagnosis and then provides some kind of solution to make the patient better.

In the golf world, a golf instructor is very much like a doctor for your golf game, except when you go to an instructor for lessons most of the time the symptoms are not reported correctly and therefore the diagnosis is completely wrong. Most of you that have gotten a lesson have shown up, the instructor will ask you what you want to work on, and then you get to work fixing that issue.

The reason we all want to be better at golf is to shoot lower scores. If we shoot lower scores every other reason we play the game will be that much more enjoyable. What I'm getting at is, how can I as a golf professional, help you get better at golf when you come to me with an area that you think needs to be improved upon, but that symptom might not be what's causing your scores to be so high?

Last season I started a new program that entails on course learning while we actually play the game of golf. The game is not played on a driving range. A flat, wide open target area with no penalties. Golf is played in an ever changing environment in which your target and your visual picture changes with each and every shot. No two shots are the same on the

INTRODUCING OUR WORLD CLASS

GOLF INSTRUCTIONAL ASSESSMENT & LESSON PROGRAM

Golf is played on a golf course, not a driving range. We have found that average golfers never reach their goals mainly because they don't accurately understand where they are starting from.

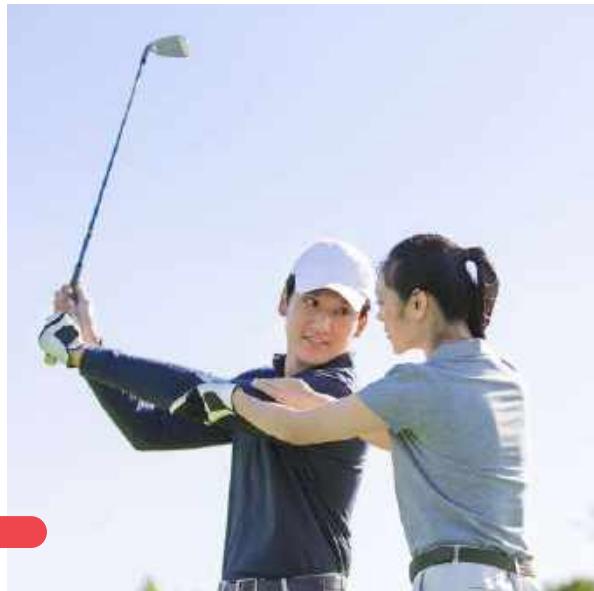

An instructor can't determine this by just asking questions and looking at your game at the range, either. Only on the golf course, in actual game-like conditions, can we discover your golf games true strengths and weaknesses.

PROFESSIONAL GOLF LESSONS

Junior golf programs bring the game of golf to your child. Golf is a fun and healthy activity the whole family can enjoy together. Golf teaches social skills and values such as self-discipline, commitment and cooperation that carry over into every aspect of a child's life.

THIS ISN'T JUST ANY GOLF CAMP, IT'S A...

PGA JUNIORS CAMP

When it comes to learning the game of golf, nothing is quite like a PGA Camp. To be the best, you must learn from the best. Dan Polites, our junior golf Camp Director has been trained and tested in all aspects of the game by the PGA of America. He is certified in junior-specific instruction, techniques, and strategies, understands the most effective ways to approach each lesson, helping to ensure each student gets the most out of every session. Here, it's about two things—golf and fun. We provide a supportive and safe environment for your children to improve their golf game. We teach golf's traditions. We teach its techniques. We just do it in a way that lets your kids be kids, which is the most important part of it all.

Camp Highlights:

- Action-packed camps include hands-on instruction led by certified PGA Professionals
- Signature PGA camp curriculum focuses on developing golf skills (full swing, short game, rules and etiquette) while keeping the experience fun and engaging (games and activities)
- A fun, safe and educational environment designed with your child's well being in mind
- Low student to instructor ratio (approximately 6:1)

PGA REACH & PGA HOPE

PGA HOPE (Helping Our Patriots Everywhere) is the flagship military program of PGA REACH, the charitable foundation of the PGA of America. PGA HOPE introduces golf to Veterans and Active Duty Military to enhance their physical, mental, social and emotional well-being.

The program introduces the game of golf through a developmental 6-8 week curriculum, taught and led by PGA Professionals trained in adaptive golf and military cultural competency. All programs are funded by PGA REACH and supplemented by PGA Section Foundations, so the cost of programming is free to all Veterans, Reservists, National Guard, & Active Duty Personnel.

PGA HOPE has a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), which enables VA Doctors and Staff to refer Veterans to the PGA HOPE program as a form of therapy. Through a robust program strategy, PGA HOPE aspires to create a physically and emotionally healthier Veteran and Active Duty community through the game of golf.

PGA HOPE teaches Veterans and Active Duty Military all golf techniques from grip to 9 hole

Shared Veteran experience: classes are restricted to just those Veterans and Active Duty members
